When Our Turn Comes

IN HAMBURG yesterday an explosion of a big tank containing phosgene gas killed eleven and drove 10,000 from their homes. The gas, one of the most deadly used in war, is almost impalpable to those inhaling it, and kills swiftly.

Germany, forbidden by the Versailles treaty to manufacture war gas, may find it difficult to explain the existence of so big a supply. Except for falling rain the gas would have exploded, with thousands killed.

That should interest us, if we have a war, which Providence, friend of kids and children, forbid, the first event would be the unloading of such gas on our cities by airplanes. Where would the planes come from? From the big plane carriers, launching them a few miles off our coast, of course.

Yesterday was cheerful for money lenders. All kinds of money—call money, time money, etc.—lent at 6 per cent, a higher rate than in any other civilized country.

Big men have decided it is time for little men to stop gambling. And as they control money and its price, through the Federal Reserve and otherwise, they can have their way, almost.

Speculation pulled in its horns a little war, not very far, to be hard to cure a tiger that has tasted blood, or a bull that has tasted profits.

The real sufferers in the speculation-reform were the brokers. Fed full with many four million share days, they did not like the 2 p. m. closing, or sales cut to 2,782,000 shares. Temperature is a little lower, but the speculative fever is still running.

Have you a little E. L. duPont de Nemours stock in your safe? Yesterday it gave shareholders a $1,565,000 gain in value, part of a payment of $4 for three months, or at the rate of $24 a year.

The duPont company owns one and a half shares of General Motors for every share of duPont, and handed on to stockholders the extra $2 paid by General Motors, a few days ago.

"To him that hath." But do not gamble or overlook the fact that some stocks have dropped in price $60 to $70 a share recently.

Crime continues to write its unpleasant history. In Moscow police could not hold back crowds at the trial of three poets, Altshuler, Avrahankov and Ankin.

At a party in which vodka and drugs shared the honors, they treated a young girl, Zoia Isakovna, so cruelly that she killed herself the next day.

The testimony is described as "very unpleasant," hence the crowd.

In Shelby County, Texas, "Buddy" Ervin, colored, was hanged to the limb of a tree, same limb, same tree on which another negro was hanged five years ago.

"Buddy" is accused of shooting a white man. It is not for people living in the North to ask why the mob insisted on hanging the negro instead of leaving that work to the hangman. Afraid he might escape, perhaps.

Weight has its advantages. Unpleasant to the contrary notwithstanding. Please Turn to Page 4, Column 5.

FOR $30,000 ESTATE

By a ruling of Judge Harris in Middlesex probate court today, Mrs. Sophie Milford Pittsford Linton of Roxbury, lost all claim to a trust fund of $30,000 held by Harlan Pittsford of Billerica in 1927.

Judge Harris held that Mrs. Linton was only the adopted and not the natural daughter of Samuel Pittsford, son of Harlan Pittsford, who received the interest from the trust fund while he lived.

Under the ruling the fund reverts to the legal heirs, three nephews and two nieces and several grandnephews and nieces.

QUINCY MAN OFFERS TO SELL HIMSELF AS SLAVE

PUTS $3840
PRICE ON SELF

Love for his three young children has led William Quincy, 39, of West Street, to offer himself for sale as a "slave" for the next two years at $96.50 a week.

The children, for whose sake he is willing to sell himself, are Ralph, 6, who is known playmates as "Buster," William, 8, who is called "Tommy," and Frances, 9.

Bourassa says he owes six months' rent, 100 doctor's bills, as the three youngsters had measles in February and March and two of them were also stricken by scarlet fever. Thus there is a grocer's bill of $75 due to the fact that Bourassa could not obtain employment all last winter.

IS GOOD DRIVER

In writing to the Boston Evening American Bourassa said:

"Will you please help me sell myself? I am an ex-serviceman, American born, of Canadian parents and am badly in need of money."

After their mother and son, he sold for a period of two years for the price of $3840.

ON COP'S VICE CRAFT

After questioning two girls at a courteous house, Dist. Atty. William J. Foley and Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick G. Doyle left for the Boston Reformatory for a second interview of two women inmates in connection with the probe of the vice and graft rings.

Although the first questioning of the women was fruitless, the authorities believed they had enough information, linking a prominent legislator with the local graft ring, to place the women in jail.

It is understood these women made the claim to have railroaded to jail, having fled for fear of husbands of ill note.

After their mother and son, he sold for a period of two years for the price of $3840.

3 OF FLEET OF 8
N. Y. YACHTS MISSING

New York, May 22 (AP)—Five yachts of a fleet of eight that left Halifax, N. S., for New York were missing today.

Three of the five missing yachts left Halifax a week ago and the other three followed last Wednesday.

Since then one craft has reached Georgetown, Guyana, and two are in Cape Cod canal and one at Provincetown and one at Martha's Vineyard.

Four put into Harrington Passage off southeastern Nova Scotia Thursday to avoid a high running tide but all were understood to have left to continue their voyage.

The eight vessels were built in Germany and Norway and shipped to Halifax for assembling. They were owned by the Canadian Maritime Yacht Club, 24, National St., Green, John St., Montreal, M. L., Fraser, R. H. of Washington, D. C., and one at Provincetown and one at Martha's Vineyard.

After taking the child to Remon Hospital where she was pronounced dead, Sgt. Charles Carroll and Paulman James Ryan arrested the driver of the car, Martin Tallard of Washington, D. C., Somerville, on a manslaughter charge.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN EXECUTIVE PINS MEDALS ON WINNERS

With Maj.-Gen. Preston Brown, of the First Corps Army Area, looking on, and with a host of students and spectators generally as observers, Mortimer C. Priest, assistant publisher of the Boston Evening American, pinned the individual trophies, silver medals, upon the breasts of the members of the Tech team, winning the Eastern senior event in the William Randolph Hearst National Rifle Matches. It was an inspiring afternoon. The team is Robert M. Harbeck, Arthur R. Elliott, captain; Fred A. Twarogowski, Richard G. Orliman and Robert G. Loomis. In competition with teams from colleges and universities throughout the East, the Tech team triumphed, winning top place by their superb marksmanship.

TECH CADETS LAUDED AFTER HEARST TROPHY AWARDS

In the presence of many students and friends, members of the rifle team of Massachusetts Institute of Technology were presented the prizes they won in the William Randolph Hearst national trophy matches.

The presentation took place during the course of an impressive and picturesque military ceremony on Tech parade ground, Cambridge, in the presence of President Samuel W. Stratton of M. I. T., Major-General Preston Brown, U. S. A., commanding the First Corps Army Area, and Mortimer C. Priest, assistant publisher of the Boston Evening American.

The trophies consisted of a large silver shield, which will be the property of the Institute and silver medals for members of the team. All were suitably received. These prizes were awarded in recognition of the fact that Tech's team won first place in the senior unit of the Eastern Division, with a score of 154.

The awards were made at a final review of the cadets R. O. T. C. battalion of the Institute which was witnessed by many leading military celebrities as well as numerous laymen.

MEDALS AWARDED

Mortimer C. Priest, assistant publisher of the Boston Evening American, as personal representative of Mr. Hearst, presented the trophies and shook hands with each member of the rifle team after his pinned medals to their uniforms.

Those who received the medals were Capt. Arthur Elliott of Boston, Robert Harbeck of Milwaukee, Richard G. Orliman of Atlantic City, Robert Loomis of Westfield, and Fred A. Twarogowski of Hoston.

Just prior to the presentation of the trophies Major-General Brown addressed the victorious team and congratulated the entire battalion, which he and the other guests had inspected.

"You are trained not only to serve in peace but in war, and you, as educated young men, must appreciate the fact that the service you come when you will be called upon to serve as soldiers."

CADETS REVIEWED

"It is proud to say you have one of the greatest college presidents ever produced."

Mr. Priest then addressed the riflemen, saying:

"It is with pleasure and pride that I am presenting this trophy and these medals in behalf of Mr. Hearst."

"With pleasure in that this Harvard has come to Tech today, New England Institution a matter of pride because as a member of the class of '91 I am a Tech man and, therefore, one of you."

"Mr. Hearst has for a long time been keenly interested in the development and promotion of marksmanship in schools and colleges. He believes that the qualifications that make for good marksmen, a clear head, a true eye and a steady hand, are among the essential qualifications that make for good citizenship and successful business men."

"A business is a success in direct proportion to the intelligence of the aim of the executive and the ability of the entire organization to function toward the objective in other words to hit the bull's eye."

"The best way for you to make for you when you take up your rifle is that you aim as you would aim for your success as a business man."

Princeton Seniors Do More Drinking Than Smoking

Princeton, N. J., May 22.—On their own admission, drinking is more popular with seniors of Princeton than smoking, according to results of the annual class questionnaire.

A total of 134 seniors admit drinking liquor, while only 232 smoke, according to the questionnaire, which may or may not prove anything.

A change in sentiment toward Harvard was indicated when the Cambridge university was selected as the second favorite college, in contrast to fifth place which it held last year.

Members of the Northern army in the province of Shantung, is reported returned to favor after his recent defeat at the hands of the Southerners.

He has proceeded to the Triangle (Pulao) front to resume command of the Shantung army for a final blow against the Southerners.

Mechanic Art Temple, junior master of Mechanic Arts high school, used his wife, Mrs. Margaret M. Temple, roughly when she remonstrated with him for his attentions to her.

The testimony was given by Mrs. Temple, who with her husband has a cross action for divorce, but who was testifying in a preliminary hearing on the custody of their three children.

Mrs. Temple has named Miss Littlefield in her suit, while her husband accused his wife of undue interference in the custody of the children.

The woman admitted Pinney accompanied her and her son Edward on an automobile trip, but said she did not know where spent his nights. She said Pinney always did the registering at hotels, but declared she would be surprised to find her husband and her son at the Hotel Carpenter, Manchester, N. H.

BATTLE OVER CHILDREN

The automobile trip is understood to have occurred at the time Mrs. Temple had the three children out of the state when the court had declared them in custody of her husband.

Through an error in the records, Mrs. Temple had originally given both parents custody, but when the matter was called to his attention, he revoked the custody order giving Mrs. Temple.

Her husband obtained possession of the children through a writ of habeas corpus, and the woman now seeks revocation of the order giving him custody.

Questioned by Attorney John H. Powers, counsel for Temple, as to her trip with Pinney, Mrs. Temple said she could not recall stopping at any place other than Kenebunk, Me.; Manchester and Derry, N. H. She said they did not stop at Springfield and Hartford.

"Did you register," she asked, regarding stopping at a Manchester hotel?

"I did not," the witness replied. "Who did?" Mr. Pinney, I suppose."

"Where did Mr. Pinney stay?" Mr. Powers asked.

"He stayed outside."

The witness admitted Pinney brought the luggage to the connecting rooms occupied by herself and her son and remained some time, but she did not recall seeing him.

"Q—Do you know where he spent the night and next day?" Mr. Powers asked.

"I don't know," she answered. "Q—Who paid the expenses? A—I paid my own and Ed's and the expenses for the car. Mr. Pinney did the food handling over the money, but I always paid our share."

"On one occasion," she testified, "Mr. Temple beat one of the boys until the child fell down. He kicked him until he got up and then beat him until he fell down again. I stopped him."

"The child begged for mercy," she testified, "and I went to assist him."

Questioned as to alleged cruelty against her, Mrs. Temple said: "My husband and I were in the car. He left fingerprints on my throat, shoulder and neck."

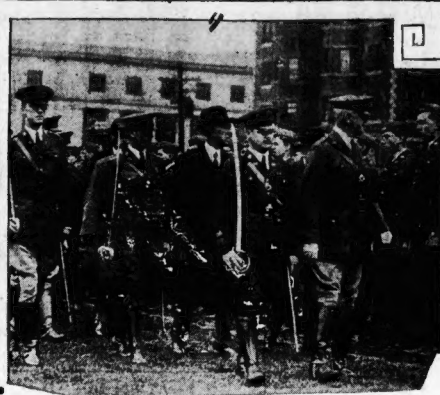

"The trouble was over another boy who had entered my car and was taking him away from me. We had many fights over this woman, who was Henrietta Littlefield of a Brook Bay school."

SILVER SHIELD FOR TEAM

On behalf of Mr. Hearst, Mr. Priest presented the handsome silver shield as the trophy won by the Tech team, victors in the senior event of the national rifle matches. For the R. O. T. C. and Technology, President Samuel W. Stratton received the shield, shown below, by team members, Loomis and Orliman.

The team's scoring was superb and the individual work evoked the praise of experts. Many colleges were in the competition.

ARMY CHIEF INSPECTS TECH BATTALION

A feature of the splendid trophy presentation program, enacted on the Tech parade grounds, was the inspection of the M. I. T. R. O. T. C. battalion, by Maj.-Gen. Preston Brown, U. S. A., and staff, with Mr. Priest, representing Mr. Hearst in the exercises. A splendid set of young men, the battalion made a brilliant showing, winning the high compliments of Major-General Brown and other army officers present. Civilian onlookers were thrilled at the inspiring sight.

Ex-Mayor Webster of Somerville Plays Sherlock; Traps 2

A bit of detective work on the part of former Mayor John M. Webster of Somerville, landed two boys, 13 and 18 years of age, in the hands of the Somerville police charged with attempting to break and enter a house in Boston st. Webster, who lives in Boston st., valued the boys as they acted suspiciously about a neighbor's house, and when one valued a window in the apartment of Rose Goodwin he called them to the police station.

In Somerville district court today the case of the older youth was continued until Saturday. The other will appear in juvenile court on that day.

3 NEW YORK YACHTS ARE MISSING

Amberg, S. A. Fuhrstock, and P. T. Bedford, all of New York.

Cowen's craft reached Larchmont Sunday, Roosevelt's and Bedford's are in Cape Cod Canal, and Imlin's is reported at Provincetown.

Fahnestock is believed to be aboard his craft. Imlin's yacht also carrying its owner, reached Marblehead.

The yachts, valued at $10,000 each, are of the eight-meter racing class and some of them were to participate in the invitation regatta at the American Yacht Club at Rye tomorrow. They are 43 feet long over all and 10 feet at waterline.

Some of the owners of the craft and officials of Burgess, Rigg and Morgan, Ltd., designers of the vessels, expressed no alarm about the safety of the missing yachts. The belief was expressed that they may have put in along the Nova Scotia coast or around Cape Cod, making the voyage in easy stages.

THE UNITED GAS IMPROVEMENT COMPANY
BROAD AND ARCH STREETS
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

July 10, 1928.

Mr. J. E. Gaddan, Chairman, Penna. Public Service Information Committee, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Following several months of negotiations between Prof. Miller of the Department of Engineering Extension of State College, and utility representatives, that institution is about ready to put out some utility companies its extension course dealing with utility economics.

As originally presented, the course did not meet with my approval, although it seemed to be satisfactory in whole or in part to many other utility men who had been acting in an advisory capacity to the college on that course.

I submitted a fifteen page criticism of the course, a copy of which is attached, and at a later conference with Prof. Miller I found that the major portion of my suggestions had been followed out.

I feel that perhaps there are many other improvements to be made in the course, but time will serve to show the need for them, and such improvements can be made in subsequent issues.

I believe that several utility companies in the state have guaranteed subscriptions to the course. It is expected that the Penna. Gas Association will set upon the course in the near future.

I likewise enclose copy for the issue of the Bulletin respecting this course.

Yours truly,
J. E. Gaddan

HERE is a letter introduced into the hearings in the Federal Trade Commission's current investigation of propaganda and lobby activities by the utility companies, illustrating some of the activities of Philip H. Gaddan, the vice-president in charge of public relations of the United Gas and Improvement Company of Philadelphia.

A Mr. Reinicker reports to him upon having been successful in introducing into Pennsylvania State College a course on "utility economics."

This means a course of teaching the students what the capitalization of utility companies should be, how much they should charge and how little they should be regulated. Mr. Reinicker not only had the course introduced into State College, but he criticized and changed to suit himself the matter taught in the course.

Gladys Fish, Natick beauty named by Mrs. Doris Mercer Kresge as the "queen" in a love nest she charged Kresge maintained in lavish splendor in New York. Police were said to have found Kresge and Miss Fish together in the apartment. The girl's family denied Mrs. Kresge's charges.

JERITZA, HER DIGNITY HURT, 'WON'T PLAY'

Vienna, May 21 (AP)—Because she did not receive a coveted decoration, Maria Jeritza, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, has decided to resign from the Vienna State Opera and to return to the Austrian Government her title of "honorary singer to the imperial court."

Mrs. Jeritza thinks she should have received the Legion of Honor from the French Government. The French, having offered her and the other women singers the decorations of "officer of public instruction," Jeritza felt this was not sufficient tribute to her ability nor commensurate with her honor and dignity. She blamed the director of the Vienna opera for her failure to receive the honors she desired when the opera company appeared in Paris. She claimed he failed adequately to emphasize to the French authorities what she considered to be the extent of her position.

Albany, N. Y., May 22 (AP)—The second trial of Mrs. Florence E. B. Knapp, former Secretary of State, on a charge of grand larceny, was suddenly postponed today by the illness of Mrs. Knapp.

Mrs. Knapp's sister, Miss Julia A. Smith of Bedford Mass., on hand in response to a subpoena by the prosecution, said "I shouldn't be surprised if she had just collapsed. It is wonderful what she has done. I couldn't have done it."

MOVE TO DECLARE LOST

FLIER LEGALLY DEAD
New York, May 22 (AP)—Application to have Mrs. Goldsborough, navigator of the lost amphibious plane Dawn, declared legally dead was made by her widow, Mrs. George Goldsborough, before Surrogate George Wingate in Brooklyn. The Dawn was lost last December, when Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson attempted a transatlantic flight.

Mrs. Goldsborough said two insurance companies have already made payments to her totalling $25,494.85, and that this is to be turned into trust fund because "when a widow receives insurance money she is very apt to spend it foolishly or invest it unwisely."

Arrest in Revere Raid

An early morning raid on a house at 100 Revere road, under Revere station, resulted in the arrest of three men. The men were arrested on charges of manufacturing.

ARREST DAZES FATHER OF TOO MANY BABIES

Bridgport, Ct., May 22 (INS)—"It was the mistake of my life when I married him. I don't think it's right to go on bringing children into the world when they won't be properly cared for. And I have children—don't misunderstand!"

These assertions were made today by Mrs. Ethel Crowwell, 25, mother of 13 children, who has caused the arrest of her husband, Edward, 25, because she wants no more babies—at least not while her husband has been bringing home only $18 to $20 a week, depending upon how long and how regularly he works.

Crowwell has attracted considerable attention and discussion. Crowwell was arrested after his wife appealed to the authorities to take charge of her husband, who is an advocate of still larger families. He is in police jail in default of bail pending hearing Thursday. Police at first were at a loss as to what charges to press, but finally resorted to that of "technical breach of peace."

Crowwell does not speak harshly of her husband. "Edward seldom spends money for drink," she said, making an effort to be fair to him. "But he has not the faintest idea of economic relations in the raising of a big family."

He insists on more children, saying the Lord will provide for them in some way. Yet year after year they struggle along with me in poverty. I don't think it's right."

She sat in a chair, but my furnished room, combined as kitchen and sitting room. She and one child, Eleanor, 12, were folding lengths of light blue elastic into piles. She explained it was "house work" they get fifty cents a gross for their labor.

"I've been married almost 10 years," she continued. "I've borne thirteen children. Only four of them, and a married son by my first husband, are alive today."

SOCIETY'S OBLIGATION.
"My baby is in the hospital, a helpless cripple. They tell me he hasn't any spine. The middle says to him if I continue to have babies it will mean my death."

"Do you blame me if I ask the authorities to keep my husband away from our home? All I want is peace and quiet. I love children but I don't believe I should be brought into the world to struggle and suffer."

Mrs. Crowwell's story will be investigated by court officials, the Connecticut Humane Society and Dr. Daniel P. Griffin, court alienist and mental hygienist. Prosecutor James C. Shannon said today he knew of no specific statute applicable to the Crowwell case.

Crowwell, meanwhile, is in jail—somewhat dazed by the action of his wife in causing his arrest.

'POISONING' OF 4 WAS HYSTERIA

An unusual hysteria was today advanced as the reason for the sudden illness of four members of the family of William M. Duncan, 41, of New Haven, last night.

Tests of all the food partaken of by Duncan, his wife and son and a relative before they collapsed were made by Dr. P. H. Mullowney, director of the Hearst Health Laboratory, and no impurities were found.

Both Dr. Mullowney and Dr. George E. May, the family physician, expressed the opinion that hysteria caused by the faintness of Mrs. Duncan resulted in the collapse of all four. She has not been in the seat of her senses since then. There was no evidence of gas or food poisoning.

HER APARTMENT RAIDED, TOO

MARGOT AMORY TODAY PLEDGES TROTH WITH PHILIPS KETCHUM, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Smart Set Much Interested in Wedding Which Takes Place in the Church of the Holy Spirit, Mattapan

NOT EVEN TRINITY'S VASTNESS, AND CERTAINLY NOT THE tiny country estate that is the Church of the Holy Spirit in Mattapan, suffices to contain all the Bostonian and mighty interest in today's union of Miss Margot Amory and Philip Ketchum. Some very important and socially distinguished brides have married their "wills" in the little church; the former Miss Barbara Burr, for one, who became the bride of William Rand before just such a pitiful collection of local aristocracy as will today witness the Amory-Ketchum nuptials.

AMBITIOUS PEOPLE, THE JACOBS HILL MUST COVER, AND unforgoing a sporting set also. For no sooner is their third annual horse show splendidly and successfully run off than they set their eyes and their energies to their even more spectacular form of equine competition, the steppechase. They have everything in their favor, have the Jacobs Hill set, for tackling the sport of kings and doing it up to royal favor, with éclat and spirit.

TO MARSHAL SOME OF THE FAVORABLE POINTS: CERTAIN notable members of the Hunt are members also of the Eastern Horse Club, such as Chester Johnson. This consider the setting that Jacobs Hill has, as the former country estate of the William Grover of Providence. There are many broad acres of woodland, hilltop and pasture ready at hand, entirely surrounding the pleasant clubhouse and its stable, house and show ring. A perfect lay for planning a steppechase course. And that very thing may eventuate in the not so very far distant future and a most take place. It is a pleasantly thrilling prospect.

MOVING ABOUT THE COUNTRY FROM ONE HORSE SHOW TO another, in the post of judge of fine horseflesh, is something that never for a moment like so genial a gentleman as Samuel J. Shaw of Brookline. His next duty in that line will be at Paxton, out near Worcester, when the Turkey Hill show is on and some expert must be in the ring to pass on the equine beauties. Mr. Shaw is up to a pretty bride-to-be, Miss Elizabeth Sprague, and to a charming debutante-to-be, Miss Sally Sprague. The former was Mr. Stimson's in June, and the latter steps into the bad calcium with this year's crop.

NO WEEK GOES ON WITHOUT ITS FAIR AND BEAUTIFUL SALE. Tomorrow, at the Cambridge home of Mrs. Stoughton Bell, at No. 24 in fine old brick, a devoted band of workers will be on hand to dispose of a potpourri of things, hand-made rugs, garden tools, garden, cakes, traveling accessories—in fact, something for the home, the garden, the inner man and the overcoat bag may be had. Mrs. George U. Crocker and Mrs. James M. Newell have their usual faithful followers to be seen today and to serve a cup of tea.

New York milkmen say fifty million milk bottles have been lost or stolen during the last year and want a "bring them back week." It is wrong to detain milk bottles. But if the country is to have a "bring them back week," many would vote in favor of a "bring back the beer bottles" week.

There may be a vote on that next November.
P. E.—But the beer bottles will NOT BE BROUGHT BACK.

While we lack beer, we have whiskey, poisonous and plentiful. Mr. Patrick Mitchell, otherwise known as "The Link," and "Patsy the Gentleman," has gone to his reward with many bullets in his head.

Gangsters "got him," and his head was found floating in the water. He was the boss of a speakeasy bar, so it goes.

BARON BUYS SISTER SHIP

Recalls Lindy Flight by Ending 3600-Mile Hop in Springfield

Springfield, May 22 (AP)—The anniversary of Charles A. Lindbergh's arrival at a L. Bourget after his Paris flight was observed here in an unusual manner through a series of coincidences. A Ryan monoplane, an almost exact duplicate of the "Spirit of St. Louis," arrived from San Diego.

It had covered exactly 3600 miles, the distance Lindbergh flew, and its elapsed time, barring a short trip from Mitchell to Curtis field, while it was at New York, was 33½ hours, the same time as Lindbergh took. Its arrival was only 20 minutes from the exact hour at which Lindbergh's wheels touched French soil a year ago.

The plane was flown by Lieut. Walter C. White with six overnight stops en route.

HUBBARD'S LOVE ON THE ROCKS

Newport, R. I., May 22—Evidence that another society wedding has come on the rocks of dissolution was revealed today when it was learned that John Elwell Hubbard, former army officer, has brought suit for divorce from Mrs. Elsie Hubbard.

The suit, which was brought in June in superior court, charges willful desertion. Mrs. Hubbard, daughter of Mr. Drexel Dahlgren, granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trevelyan of Philadelphia, and also of the late Admiral Dahlgren has been living in Europe for some time. Her husband has been making his home with his mother, Mrs. John P. Hubbard of Bellevue ave. The couple were married in October of 1917 at Douglas, Ark., where Hubbard, then a lieutenant in the army, was stationed.

MAIL AND NAVY FLIERS KILLED IN AIR CRASHES

Rossmore, Va., May 21 (AP)—A north-bound mail plane on the route connecting the east with the south crashed out of a sea-lan sky here today and killed the pilot, E. J. Moroney, 35, of Aurora, Ill. The plane, bound from Richmond for Washington and Philadelphia, left the Ford Airport here at 1:30 a. m. It crashed just off the Seven Pines golf course near Sanleone.

Honolulu, May 21 (AP)—Lieut. William H. Redington, of the U. S. S. Langley was killed in an airplane accident while the fleet was enroute from Hawaii to the mainland. It was officially reported here.

SEIZE QUARTER-MILLION RUM CARGO FOR CHICAGO

London, May 21 (AP)—What customs officials saw in the largest seizure of contraband liquor ever made on the Great Lakes was the result of a search of the ship's papers. A tug 125 feet long, containing 200 cases of liquor, was seized by special customs agents and customs border patrol inspectors.

Customs officers say the liquor cargo has a value of more than $250,000 and that the tug itself is worth $25,000. The tug was bound for Chicago.

TIDE POWER CO. PRESIDENT ON TRIAL

Charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud, John A. Knowlton, president of the Universal Tide Power Co., with headquarters at Bangor, went on trial today in federal court before Judge James A. Lowell.

With him as co-defendant, charged with aiding and abetting in the alleged fraud, was Mary Carroll, a trustee of the company and secretary to the president.

Knowlton and Miss Carroll were indicted as a result of alleged false statements contained in prospectuses sent through the mails to stockholders and prospective purchasers of stock.

These alleged statements were in connection with operation and development of a laboratory plant at Bangor which has cost $200,000 to date, according to Government officials.

For 18 years Knowlton is alleged to have been selling stock in his project, claiming he can harness the flow for 24 hours of each day and produce electric power cheaper than it can be produced by other methods.

According to Assistant Federal Attorney John A. Spaulding, more than 12,000 stockholders, the majority of them in New England, have invested more than $1,000,000 since 1910 as a result of Knowlton's representations.

The indictment sets forth that Government engineers maintain Knowlton's hypotheses are practical only on paperpower in electrical energy with his huge plant and that the cost of producing this amount of energy is 25 times greater than the cost of producing an equal amount in the average hydroelectric plant.

Knowlton was indicted in 1926 for the same project, but because he signed a bond and agreement not to make false statements to the public, the indictment was not pressed.

10 HUB PLANES WILL AID WESTFIELD DEDICATION

Six army planes and four air force commercial planes from the Boston airport will participate in a three-day air meet, opening Friday, for dedication of the Barnes airport at Westfield. The Chamber of Commerce of Westfield and Hartford are sponsoring the meet. Hartford airport is expected to send one or two planes, and others from Worcester, Springfield, Hartford and New York will engage in the contests. Harry J. Jenkins is in charge of Boston arrangements. The program includes formation flying for military ships, balloon bursting, short races for planes under 100 horsepower, "dead stick" landings by Boston C. Harveys and parachute jumps by Henry Johnson. On Sunday the military ships will race to Greenfield for a cup donated by the Chamber of Commerce there.

INJURED GIRL, 7, IS FOUND IN STREET

Believed the victim of a "hit-and-run" driver, seven-year-old Margaret Hammond of Cambridge st., Charlestown, was found unconscious in Washington st., East Somerville, today. Although no injuries were found, the child did not immediately regain consciousness and was held for observation at Somerville hospital. The girl was found lying with her feet in the gutter and her body on the sidewalk. Patrolman George H. McDonald took her to the hospital.

FULLER VETOES BILL CHANGING AUTO LIEN LAW

A veto of a bill which would change the law relating to liens on seized automobiles was received today by the House with an accompanying message from Governor Fuller, declaring that the bill would deprive the police of their most effective weapon in enforcing prohibition.

The bill provides that, when a motor vehicle is seized by the police and declared forfeited to the state, the officer selling the same shall pay all liens according to their priorities.

"This bill would, in the opinion of the commissioner of public safety, result in making him an agent to sell motor cars for convicted lawbreakers," wrote the Governor.

CLOUDY SKIES FOR HUB CONTINUE TILL THURSDAY

Cloudy skies will be Boston's lot until Thursday, due to a triple-continent storm area covering the entire country east of the Mississippi river, according to the weather man. FOLEY QUIZZES 4 WOMEN IN PRISON

Hence, the legislator demanded and was promised $1000 to obtain their release. Although he failed to bring the release about, he is said to have kept a retaining fee of $1000.

The two girls questioned today, both apparently under 25 years of age, were taken into the district attorney's office with considerable secrecy, and were confined with officials nearly an hour and a half.

They were then induced out of the courtroom in an equally secret manner, after which Foley and Doyle hurried away to Sherborn, refusing to make any statement other than to admit they had questioned the girls at length.

LINKED WITH PATROLMAN

It was learned, however, that the girls were intimate with two men now being sought in connection with the payment of jewelry to a Boston policeman for protection. Of these two men, proprietors of disreputable houses, one is said to be in New York and the other has vanished as far as can be determined.

The policeman in question, it was learned, who told his story yesterday to the district attorney, was one of a police detail assigned to clean up the disreputable houses and street walking in the South End.

He offered to have one of the two men now being sought, and demanded a return for favors granted.

In consequence he was sent to a downtown jewelry store where he selected $1000 worth of jewelry, signing receipts for it so that the store would charge it to the accounts of the two men who sent him there. At first the officer denied any knowledge of the charges, but eventually admitted he had taken the money and the declaration that he had later returned it.

The jewelry's books were carefully scrutinized by investigators, however, and revealed that on return of the jewelry was made, and that it was later paid for by the two proprietors of disreputable houses, whom the district attorney is seeking.

WOMEN RAN HOUSES

The two women, now inmates of Sherborn, are said to have run houses owned by one of these men, and because of the added information obtained District Attorney and his assistant felt confident the prisoners would talk.

Although the prisoner is said to have a complete alibi as far as any connection with the graft ring is concerned, a man close to him is said to have been the holder of the case against the legislator for receiving the two women at Sherborn.

Shortly after the denials of Foley and Doyle, John P. Mullen, former State St. broker, who has been in charge at jail for about a week, was brought into superior court before Judge Frederick Foulds. His bail of $10,000 was reduced to $10,000, which was furnished and he was released.

Mullen was then taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Harry J. Dalziel and taken to Worcester, where he was surrendered by his bondsman, here, Mrs. Lavina Gross. She had furnished $10,000 bail for Mullen, who was charged with the bribery of $10,000 from E. Louise Prescott of Webster.

Mrs. Gross is the mother of Ralph S. Gross, arrested in Boston with Mullen.

WHITE WAY OF DOT AND DASH GUIDE NIGHT FLIERS

Park, May 22 (AP)—Illuminated airplanes for "night fliers" are now in operation throughout France for night fliers. They are electrically lighted glass tubes in the shape of dots and dashes, arranged as the Morse code spelling of the names of towns along the four continental airplane routes. Paris-Marseille, Paris-Nice, Paris-Bordeaux, Paris-Breton. The Morse telegraphic code was employed to save space and insure visibility, as many of the towns have long names and must be further identified by adding the name of the province in which they are located.

DR. HEDGECOCK TELLS OF WILD PARTY HOUSE PARTY

M. Furgave, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, who described a "prevention party" in a legislative committee room last year.

Supt. Furgave called for an investigation, not only of conditions surrounding the storehouse where the State police kept seized liquors, but also the locker rooms used by officials and employees.

"The party held in room 414 of the State House following the proceedings of the Massachusetts Legislature on April 23, 1927, reminds one of the drunken parties held in the back rooms of saloons in the days before prohibition."

PLANNED "WILD PARTY."

"Information reached my office on the afternoon of April 24 that liquor was being brought in from outside the State House and that a wild party was being planned for that evening."

"As it was such cases the league proceeded to investigate. The results of the investigation were given to Commissioner Howard when I appeared before the commission investigating this condition in the State House about 10 days ago."

The league has not been able to secure any authentic information as to where the liquor was secured.

"It is true that some affidavits were brought in and I hope the proper authority, will not only furnish the conditions surrounding the room where the department of the locker rooms, whether for the use of officials or employees."

The league will assist any official having the authority to make an investigation and give them information as it already has information as to where the liquor was secured.

"I do not think, however, that Commissioner Howard's investigation was so efficient as to cover the need, since it only has to do with the disappearance of the liquor, the appearance of seized liquor in the locker room of the State House."

Commissioner Charles P. Howard and State Commissioner George Cronin and James McCormack, of the department of administration and finance, who are conducting the inquiry, declined to comment on the statement other than to say that Furgave was one of the first witnesses.

Chairman Howard declared there was no attempt to "cover up" anything and said that private hearings in this case were only in accordance with the inviolable policy of the commission.

"We are trying to ascertain facts and our report to the governor will be exclusively in accordance with the facts," he said.

Speaker John C. Hall, of the House of Representatives, has referred to the commission on rules the order of Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware for a legislative investigation of the liquor charges.

A hearing on the question of admitting the order will be held next week.

Witnesses heard today by the investigating commission included Capt. Thomas B. Bligh, chief of the state police, and Charles Reupke, head of the uniformed force; Co. Paul J. Nolan, secretary to Commissioner of Public Safety Alfred P. Fiske, head of all the state police and other divisions of the public safety department; and C. H. Gay, a State House worker.

YALE DEANS PUT CURB ON STUDENT AVIATORS

New Haven, Ct., May 22 (AP)—Proving the world does move, the Yale Daily News, which during a half century has carried all sorts of news, today carried a brand new one on its first page. It reads: "No undergraduate is allowed to operate any form of aircraft without permission of the dean of the school in which he is enrolled."

The notice is signed by C. W. Mendell, dean of Yale College. P. T. Walden, dean of freshmen, and C. H. Warren, dean of the Yale scientific school.

CAMPAIN FUND PROBE LEADS TO OHIO, INDIANA

Washington, May 22 (AP)—Unable to obtain all the information he seeks from witnesses called to Washington, the Senate presidential campaign funds investigating committee has decided to go into Ohio and Indiana and perhaps West Virginia, Sen. Steiwer, Republican, Oregon, chairman, who returned today with Sen. Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico, from Raleigh, N. C., said the probe would be made before the Republican national convention at Kansas City June 25.

$99,000 VERDICT AGAINST HUB AWARDED HOLZMAN

Damages of $99,313.55 from the City of Boston were awarded today by a Superior Court jury to G. Augustine Holzman of Boston, as assignee of a claim on the late Morse Shapiro. The damages, returned in a verdict to Judge Wine, were taken by the city of $1,564 square feet of land for a schoolhouse in Peterboro at Back Bay in 1925.

OFFERS TO SELL HIMSELF INTO 'SLAVERY'

the sum of $300 to any man or woman who wants me.
"I can drive any kind of automobile, am a careful driver and can do most of the repairs to a car, or will do any other kind of work that is demanded of me, provided I am paid, and will always give the best that is in me. I can furnish good references."
"FOR MY CHILDREN."
"I have been working since early April at a gasoline station, and have just about enough for me to live on without paying my debts," he said. "I read of a man offering himself for sale because he was up against it and that's why I made this offer."
"I have been offered the sum of $34.50 a week as the 'value' price. Business said: 'I figure my family needs $2 a week to live on and pay all bills. I would use the other $15 each week to pay up the bills I have contracted. I have been ordered out of the apartment in which we live because I owe six months' rent.'"
"My wife thought in for my children. I want them to remain in school as long as they can."

DORCHESTER GIRL WINS SEVENTH PRIZE

Once more Miss Grace Gosselin of Dorchester, scholar student, has won a student's prize for proficiency. This time it is the Benjamin F. Romeine prize for the year's best student in French among all four classes at Harvard College, New York.
The Dorchester girl, daughter of E. P. Gosselin of Vinson st., Dorchester, a member of the Boston Country Club and a member of the Harvard Club, four, including the Fulbright scholarship at Harvard, were won in her senior year at Girls' Latin School. Miss Gosselin is completing her sophomore year at Harvard. She was graduated from St. Peter's Parochial School in Dorchester and from Girls' Latin School.

EGGS AND GOLD HAMPERED GEN. NOBILE'S HOP

Oslo, Norway, May 22 (INS)—Bailed by bad weather in the attempt to sail last night for the North Pole, Gen. Umberto Nobile, Italian Arctic explorer, hopes to get away within 24 hours in the dirigible balloon Italia, said a radiogram from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, today.
Two scientists will be landed upon the polar ice cap. If possible, to make exhaustive studies of the ice and meteorological conditions.

By GEN. UMBERTO NOBILE,
Commander-in-Chief of the Dirigible Italia.

(Copyright, 1922, in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, Germany, South America and Cuba, by the New York American. All World rights reserved.)
King's Bay (via San Paulo radio station) May 22—The following is my official report to the Royal Italian Geographical Society of the Italia's latest flight:
"Having left King's Bay May 16 at 1:20 p. m., we returned May 18 at 10:20 p. m. After two days of uninterrupted navigation, we followed this course: Nydalund, Untra Cape, Danish Island, Cape Barren, Cape North—61.40 latitude north, 27.5 longitude east, Orlovsk-Albert Island, Hermitage Island, Hornsorth and Salisbury Island, Cape Mervius, Cape Gromme, Cape Nigey—49 latitude north, 24.20 longitude east—Cape Vismannoroff, Cape Zelantain, Cape Narau—43.40 latitude north, 42 longitude east—Cape Lindbergh, Cape Bruun, Nydalund.

AVERAGED 4 BELOW
"As the crew flies we covered a distance of 3553 kilometers. The real distance, however, was much greater owing to the detours made. We had the wind almost constantly against us, except along parts of our course when we turned, to be sure, to leeward.

"The flight proceeded with complete regularity. The atmosphere, as usual, behaved in a perfect manner. We suffered from the usual drawbacks, that is, fog and the formation of ice crusts which in this instance reached very considerable proportions.

"The average temperature was about four degrees below zero centigrade and the coldest was 18 below zero.

"We had aboard sixteen persons, 2000 kilograms of gasoline, 450 kilograms of oil, 500 kilograms of Polar equipment, 500 kilograms of reserve food supplies and 100 kilograms of food for immediate consumption. Our outfit included navigation equipment and scientific instruments totaling 15,000 kilograms.

READY FOR NEW FLIGHT
"We consumed 860 kilograms of gasoline and 285 kilograms of oil.
"The whole of the crew worked admirably. Notwithstanding the hard work of preparation, entailing two sleepless nights before we started, they remained all those hours the hardship of polar air traveling despite intense cold, inadequate food and utterly insufficient rest.

"This evening the Italia, having completed the replenishment of her supplies, will again be ready for another flight.

"The following is a brief summary of the results of our journey:
"We explored about 10,000 square kilometers over a course of 320 kilometers in the unknown region of the Spitzbergen Land between Spitzbergen and Franz Josef Land.

"About 300 kilometers over a course 40 kilometers in the unknown region northeast of Nova Zembla.

"Nearly 1600 square kilometers over a course of about 140 kilometers—crossed land to the north end of Spitzbergen and over the principal islands adjoining.

"We did not find any land, indicating, however, of some land being very near, were found east of the region of Nicholas II Land at the position of latitude 50 north and longitude 44.30 east.

Car Theft Suspect Finds He's Too Be-Numbered

An unusual method in the art of auto thievery was unfolded in Dorchester District Court when David Archibald, 26, of Dorchester was arraigned today. He was held for a further hearing in 1929 on charges of stealing a car and plates.

Pollie told the court Archibald's procedure was to steal a car, use it for a week, then abandon it in Dorchester recently.

HUGGER SEIZES FIND FIFTH BODY LYNN WOMAN IN FIVE DAYS

For the first time in many months in Lynn a "Jack the Hugger" made his appearance in that city early today and selected Mrs. Carrie Herbert of Essex at his victim.

The hugger leaped from behind a tree near Lynn English high school, according to Mrs. Herbert's report to the police, and attempted to embrace and kiss her.

Scrambling and using her finger nails, she succeeded in fighting her assailant off, then ran to Lynn police headquarters.

She described her assailant as youthful, about 5 feet 7 inches tall, of dark complexion and wearing a light topcoat and light cap.

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

First Outdoor Boxing Show of Season On Tonight

MANOLI AND FLYNN TOP ARGONNE CARD

THE ARGONNE A. A. will make another effort to pry the outdoor boxing hit at Braves Field tonight. If the weather man is gracious, Sgt. Eddie Mack will hand the cash customers one of those glittering 50-cent shows.

George Manoli, who is strenuously objects to being called Wop, inasmuch as he is an Argonne and not an Italian, will battle Arthur Flynn of Lawrence in a bout for the New England middleweight championship.

Manoli, who is a native of Italy, has been a favorite of the fans since he first appeared in the ring. He is a powerful fighter, and his style is one of the best in the world. He has won many fights, and he is now one of the top fighters in the world.

INDOOR SPORTS TRYING TO CONVINCE A PATIENT THAT YOU ARE NOT A SCULPTOR WITH A MAGICAL TOUCH

Since you made this set for me, doctor, I have two new wrinkles and I don't think it's right at all.

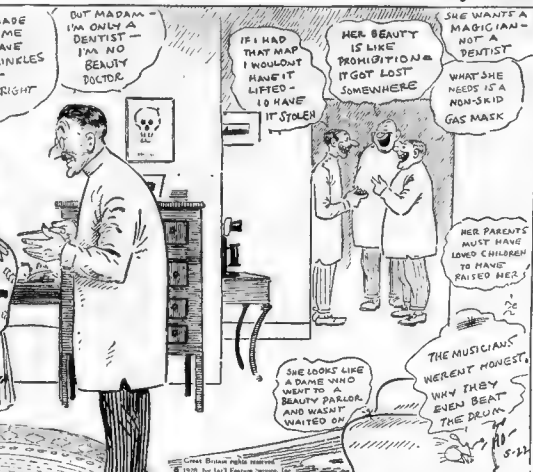

Oh, madam, I'm only a dentist. I'm no beauty doctor.

If I had that map I would not have it lifted—I have it stolen.

She wants a magician, not a dentist. What she needs is a non-skid gas mask.

She looks like a dame who went to beauty parlor and wasn't waited on.

The musician's weren't honest. Why they even beat the drum.

MR. BOSTON Bu Jack Conway

ERNE SCHAAF, sensational young heavyweight, was boxing with Elzou Riox when Mr. Boston breezed into the gym at Bishop's Manor, Wrentham.

Phil Schoberg, oldtime jay champion, who is managing Schauf, was keeping time.

After Mr. Boston watched Schauf step for a couple of rounds, Schauf asked him how the former sailor looked to him.

"Ernie looks as though he is in the best possible condition. This Riox is a fat, strong fellow, and yet he is handling him without any trouble," said Schauf.

"Schauf is always in condition," declared Schoberg. "The boy is not a single bit tight and is very careful in his training. Even when he has not any fight on, Ernie keeps himself trim by light work in the gym and by taking long walks. Now you're going to see something funny."

Schoberg turned and looked in the direction of the elongated negro who was putting on a pair of big boxing gloves.

"It's Shadow Goodwin," remarked Tom Goodwin, who is taking daily sunbaths at Wrentham. "I'll bet Schauf won't hurt the Shadow."

"Shadow is too fat to get punched around," laughed Goodwin. "The first time Schauf gets a good punch at him he will pretend he is knocked out and ask Ernie to go easy on him. These colored sparring partners don't believe in getting punched around unnecessarily. They're just displaying their muscles to get a pair of boxing gloves."

"Rocky Stone is as smart as the colored boys. When he was hit by a training with Jack Shaker, he would get Shaker to let up on him by pretending he had been knocked dizzy. Rocky isn't as dumb as some people think he is."

"Let 'em go, Shadow," ordered Schoberg. "The first punch let go by Schauf sent him deep into the Shadow's ribs. You are a murderous puncher, Mister Schauf," said the Shadow, a phlegmatic tone of voice. "Please wouldn't knock a poor colored boy cold."

"Didn't I tell you," said Goodwin. "I know my colored sparring partners."

After two rounds of boxing with the Shadow, Schauf called it a day. "I'm really right now to step in with Big Boy Peterson at the A. A. Schauf. You can tell my friends back in Boston that I'll be Friday night. I am going to try to score with a knockout, as I think I can punch Peterson out of the picture. I'll be up in the ring."

"You have a tough fight on your hands," interrupted Schauf. "You're a real fighter. I hope Col. Bob McKelvey has been as busy as you for your fight with Peterson as you have been while training to be a promoter get half a break now and then. I know how I'd be in the box office waiting for the cash customers to get excited over your rugged fellows."

"I know that," replied Schauf in his boyish manner. "But no reason why I can't lick him. The way I feel today I can beat these so-called star heavyweights."

"Atta boy," cried Tom Goodwin. "You tell them how you're going to knock 'em over."

"You see what this sunshine has already done for Tom," declared Schauf. "He's a real fighter. I hope Col. Bob McKelvey has been as busy as you for your fight with Peterson as you have been while training to be a promoter get half a break now and then. I know how I'd be in the box office waiting for the cash customers to get excited over your rugged fellows."

LEWIS IN HUB FOR MCLEOD BATTLE

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, master of the headlock and king of wrestlers, paid Boston a hurried visit yesterday to look over the ground for the defense of his title as heavyweight champion of the wrestling world.

On Thursday night, Lewis is to be given the hardest test he has ever faced in a New England ring, when he will tackle George McLeod, the heavy former champion and now the favorite bout of the finest athletic club in the world.

Lewis spent only a few hours here and left immediately for a camp in the country where he will train in private for the coming battle.

Russell, Carrigan's Choice for Third Yank-Sox Game

MILLIONS WAGED; WHOLE LOT PLAYED

New York, May 22.—The Red Sox are apologizing to no one for their showing at the Yankee Stadium when they halved a hard-fought double-header with Huggins' world's champions.

Today Jack Russell, who has had considerable success against the Yankees in the past, will try his luck against the baffling New Yorkers.

For a time we almost saw a baseball miracle as Col. Russell's spell looked as though the climbing Red Sox would score a double victory against the famous Yankees, who in the four weeks prior to yesterday had lost just two games.

A powerful home run smash by Bob Messel, coming in the sixth inning of the second game, muddled the dreams of the two club victories in the same afternoon.

Charley Ruffing had pitched great ball up to that time. He was leading, 2 to 0, and in the first five innings he blanked the Yankees with a pair of hits.

Charley started the sixth inning by walking Huggins' two big sluggers, Ruth and Gehrig. It gave Huggins his chance. He ripped a homer just out of Ken Williams' reach into the left field bleachers, putting the Yankees one in the lead.

Not only did that drive sink the Sox in the second game but it may cost them the services of their slugger, left fielder, Ken Williams.

Ken drove head first into a concrete base trying to knock down Bob's smash. He was entirely safe, but he was out of the picture for a spell.

Ken limped after that. He is pretty stiff and now early today he may be forced to take a rest. Bill was especially pleased with the way his two big right-handers, Ed Morris and Charley Ruffing, stopped the Yankee sluggers. Morris killed up his fourth straight victory and after the Sox took the lead he Ed throttled the Yankee whenever they tried to put on a rally.

It was really tough luck for Ruffing, who as he yielded only four hits. Yet Boston made splendid use of six in the field, when both Phil Toot and Bill Regin hit home runs with two men on base.

Gene Tunney Is Idol of Local Fighters

By MYLES T. McSWEENEY

AFTER several weeks of research work among local writers and fighters relative to their intellectual and cultural standing in the Bureau of Intelligence Research of the Boston Evening American, sports department is ready to announce its findings.

About 100 fighters and writers have been interviewed. Gene Tunney has conquered. He is not only the world's heavyweight titleholder, but he is also champion in manners and speech to the majority of local fighters.

Future writers of boxing history will speak of this as the Golden Age of Literature, and the local poolrooms and speakeasies will replace the half-nude prints of old time gladiators with the bespattered and be-bighatted warriors of today.

N. Y. Scribes Loud in Praise of Red Sox

By JOE WILKINSON

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 22.—The Boston Red Sox have finally convinced the baseball world in general that their great playing of the past fortnight is no flash in the pan.

Even the skeptical New York writers finally admit that the Carrigans must get some place this season.

Here is what two of the foremost Gotham critics have to say of the team.

Helen Engages in Mixed Doubles

Paris, May 22 (NS)—Attracted by the fame of America's noted tennis star, Miss Helen Wills of California, a large crowd pressed into the Grand Palais stadium today to see her again in action after her victory in a doubles match yesterday.

Miss Wills and Francis T. Hunter were paired in a doubles match against Miss Anthony and A. Trevelock of Australia. Flashes play was expected.

The weather has been chilly, and Miss Wills attracted much attention on the opening day of the tournament by wearing a blue and white dress with a blue and white pattern.

CHILDREN NEED PLAY

By I. LAMAR MATTHEWS

When Sarah Lois was three years old she could say a dozen nursery rhymes. When she was four, she could read every page in her little primer. When she was five, she could say the 23rd Psalm name the presidents of the United States and count by twos to a hundred. Now she is six, and she is the best behaved, quietest, most obedient child in the neighborhood—poor little Sarah Lois! Think of being only six and having all those virtues!

She lives and moves and has her being in the time of her mother's or her teacher's voice. She reads her lessons standing by her mother's side and washes her dolls' faces just exactly the way that mother washes her other things. She sits primly in her small rocker and listens patiently to high school radio music, just as her father does. She goes to Sunday school and responds to the thoughts of her teacher. She goes to school and submits to the molding of her older teacher. Then she comes straight back to the firm, guiding hand of her mother.

When she is with other children, she stays at it in a bewildered sort of way, and acts so polite and respectful that she never really affiliates with them.

They say, "Sarah Lois is dumb." She isn't dumb—she is only an adult.

If she could just escape and go live in a nice, friendly orphan's home for a few months, she would be all right.

That young mother says she does all right. She does, too. She can't imagine any better place for her small daughter than she has for her own side. As a rule, that is a very good place for a little girl; but even the best of them need change occasionally.

There isn't a little girl or boy in the world who doesn't need to play rough, laugh joyously, suffer and do a lot of silly, pointless things that adult spirits and childish imagination induce. Escape from eternal watch-care is the mind's relief. The freedom to think and move and act in its own innocent impulses means a lot to a little child.

It is a fearful thing for a child to have to react to grown people all the time. He should have the pleasure and the privilege and the benefit of reacting to other children sometimes. He lives on a plane with other children. He doesn't belong on an adult plane.

Picture yourself cast into a world of high brow. Imagine the strain of being expected to think, to talk, to act on a superior being every day and Sunday too.

A child's attitude toward the adults in his circle is somewhat the same that you hold toward busy individuals when you attend in your luncheon hours. For goodness sake give your boy or girl a chance to think and feel and play and talk with other children. They are a little man or she is a little child. Let them be.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN HOWLAND

SOME day we are going to die, some day that being a wife is not a picnic or an avocation, but a great profession. A profession requiring skill, science, hard application and natural ability.

Some day there is going to be a brand new and profitable business for women in the job of "autistic wife."

Many an overworked tired business woman would be delighted to day if she could find a reliable substitute to "double" for her in the role of wife.

Sombody to do all those things which the tired business wife ought to do, wants to do—and never finds TIME to do.

You can hire a housekeeper to feed your husband and take care of his clothes; but what the busy wife would like to find is somebody to watch his diet, see that he takes his tonic and set his alarm clock.

Sombody to remind him to write to his mother, put the stove in his shirt, wash his razor and tell him when to get his hair cut.

Sombody to meet him at the station when he is detained at the office, and greet him at the door with a bright, glad smile and a cry of joy when he comes in evenings.

Sombody to find his slippers, fetch his smoking coat and see that he changes his wet socks when he comes in after a rainy day—while his wife is creaming her face or getting into her evening gown.

Sombody to wait up for him

When he stays out late nights and listen to his wife when he returns—while his wife gets a full night's sleep.

Sombody to go around to musical shows and recure and prize fights with him—while his wife goes to see a GOOD play or gets in some improving reading.

Sombody to jolly and coax him into a good humor when he comes in with a growl, on the particular day when his wife has a headache.

Sombody to listen rapily while he talks about his golf, explains his latest motor car or tells "The new one he heard at the club."

Sombody to live up the dinner conversation, fix his salad and pour his coffee—when his wife is out at a committee meeting or "ad lib" after a hard day's work.

Sombody to listen sympathetically while he tells of the troubles at the office, keep an eye on him at parties to see that he doesn't imbecile much, and keep him out of drams at all times.

Sombody to cuddle him, massage him, worry about him, wait on him, soothe him, restrain him and love him—somebody, in short, to do EVERYTHING that a strong man needs except inspire him and LOVE him.

This is the most profession which women will probably take up, because being a wife is a WHOLE TIME job—no one else can do it. Woman will have to find somebody to be a wife to her neglected husband at all times.

DISCUSSED

By B. C. FORBES

New York, May 22.—The Interstate Commerce Commission's ruling on the anti-trust Van Sweringen consolidation plan, not announced until after the stock market closed for the week, caused an incentive to unbridled speculation in the country that the railroad industry is about to be consummated.

The commission's decision in favor of the Van Sweringen plan, which would create a new railroad system, is a blow to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has been struggling for years to bring about a consolidation of the railroads. The commission's decision is a blow to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has been struggling for years to bring about a consolidation of the railroads.

The week's closing lower prices for wheat, for corn, for oats and for soybeans, and the selling of stocks at sinking prices, brought about a depression in other markets, regardless of weather conditions or other factors.

No significant changes have occurred in the industrial or general business conditions of the country, with most of the country only fair or worse. Commerce for export was marked in a trade, and toward conditions of overproduction in wheat, but leaders expect confidence that things will gradually, though perhaps slowly, get better.

Retail trade, on the whole, continues distinctly weaker, the contrast between it and the boom in all other lines, is more pronounced than this year, having exceeded 250,000 shares against less than 200,000 in this year last year.

Rarely in America's history has there been so much of a change in political opinion on the eve of Presidential campaign, as in the high financial circles and the stock market, and the change is in favor of the Republican party.
